

Exploring Our Past, Shaping Our Future

The Scottish Episcopal Church is inviting congregations to take part in a process of reflection, listening and truth-telling as it explores the Church's historic links to the transatlantic enslavement of African people.

Churches are encouraged to consider their own stories and share any records, documents, memorials, photographs, local histories, memories, questions or reflections that may help build a greater understanding of how this history has shaped local communities.

As a starting point, vestries are asked to set aside time at an upcoming meeting to discuss this invitation and to identify any historical records that may be held by the church, whether in archives, memorials, financial documents or elsewhere.

No specialist knowledge is required. This is not about having all the answers, but about being willing to explore, listen and reflect together. All contributions will be treated with care and confidentiality, and guidance and support are available by emailing churchrelations@scotland.anglican.org

Community Film Screening: The People's Emergency Briefing

The evening will include refreshments and an opportunity for discussion following the film. Watch. Chat. Act. Admission and refreshments are completely free, and all are welcome.

A Night at the Musicals

As part of The St Paul's Evening Series, we are delighted to welcome Thomson-Leng Musical Society for what promises to be a memorable evening of music and entertainment.

A Night at the Musicals will celebrate some of the most beloved songs from the world of musical theatre, featuring a varied programme drawn from classic and contemporary stage productions. Audiences can look forward to an evening of uplifting melodies, dramatic favourites, and well-known show tunes performed by one of Dundee's most respected amateur musical societies.

The concert takes place on Friday 27th of November at 7.30pm in the beautiful setting of St Paul's Cathedral, Dundee. Whether you are a lifelong fan of musical theatre, enjoy live music, or are simply looking for a wonderful evening out, this concert offers something for everyone.

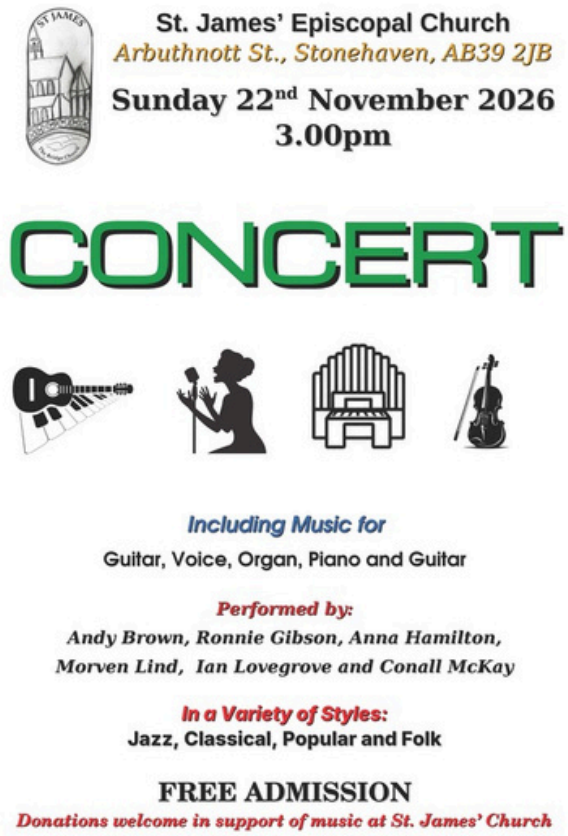

The St Paul's Evening Series continues to bring a rich variety of musical and cultural events to the cathedral, showcasing talented performers while providing opportunities for the wider community to gather and enjoy outstanding entertainment in a unique and historic setting.

All are warmly welcome, and we look forward to seeing many familiar and new faces for what promises to be a joyful celebration of music from the stage.
